

ARTICLE 26 OF THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS

WHAT DOES IT SAY?

This article tells us that we must attend elementary school, and it must be free. Also, everyone has the opportunity to go to college based on their merit. Education should promote personal development, human rights, and peace. Parents have the right to choose their children's education.

“EDUCATION IS NOT PREPARATION FOR LIFE; EDUCATION IS LIFE ITSELF.”

John Dewey

WHAT CAN WE DO?

We can contribute to better education in many ways: by valuing the role of teachers, supporting students with resources and motivation and promoting a welcoming school environment. Participating in community actions, helping those with fewer resources and encouraging inclusive education policies are also ways to make a difference. Small gestures, such as sharing knowledge or donating materials, have a big impact on everyone's future.

SDG AND EDUCATION

The fourth Sustainable Development Goal (SDG), "Quality Education," ensures inclusive and equitable learning for all. It focuses on expanding access to education, reducing inequalities, improving teacher training, and promoting gender equality. These efforts aim to empower individuals and support sustainable community development.

EDUCATION? WHY?

Education is strongly linked to a country's economic growth. Studies show that improving student test scores can lead to a 1% to 2.2% annual increase in GDP per capita. This shows how important quality education is for a nation's development. Also, illiteracy has decreased.
